fleet than had been generally anticipated, discerned a double line of smoke, and steaming out soon became aware of the arrival of the Greely Arctic relief expedition. The armament of the Alliance was brought into action, and gun after was brought into action, and gun after gun rang out thundering peals of welcome, to which the cannon of Greely responded with grateful roars of recognition. Shortly the Alliance came within bailing distance of the approaching steamers, and with bells ringing and whistless screeching the Alliance halled the Bear and Thetis. Shortly after sunrise the Bear, Thetis, and Alliance steamed to a point off the Islo of Shoals, where the first stage of the homeward voyage of the Greely relief expedition was finished.

Gracefully they came into the harbor

Gracefully they came into the harbor with yards squared and the stacks pour-ing forth clouds of amoke, fully twenty-four hours before the fleet had been four hours before the fleet had been expected to arrive. There was little about the three vessels to denote the severe experiences which two of them had passed through. When it became known that the Arctic squadron had arrived outside of the harbor the excitement on board of the men-of-war lying at anchor was intense. Shortly after 5 o'clock the welcome news of the safe arrival of the Greely fleet spread through the city, and when the Bear and Thetis had arrived off New Castle Secretary Chandler dis-patched a steam launch to Commander Schley, with orders that the Bear and Thetis should remain in the offing until the preparations for their reception should

The secretary of the navy then pro-The secretary of the may then pro-ceeded to the Taliapoosa, and orders were at once issued for the entire squadron of war vessels in the harbor to prepare for the reception of the Arctic heroes. All the naval vessels were decorated with American flags at their topmasts. At moon the press boat, the government tog Leyden, steamed down the river with numerous press representatives aboard, and came to anchor where a good view of the ceremonies night be obtained. As the Leyden steamed down the river the men on board the naval veteran Constitution, whose name is a synonym of former naval victories, ascended the shrouds and, with lifted hats, uttered a anrouds and, with lifted hats, uttered a cordial salute. The other vessels in the lower harbor were decked out in their gayest colors, the flagrahip Tennessee displaying the acting admiral's broad pennant at the mizzenmast and the Tallapooss flying the colors of the secretary of the navy, four stars and an anchor on a blue ground. They seen got under way, and plowed down the river. At noon the preparations for the reception of the Arctic

At about 2 o'clock the Alliance rounded fort Point and came to anchor some distance astern of the Tennessee. The Thetis followed fifteen minutes later, and anchored abreast of the Alliance. As the Thetis anchors went overboard, the yards on all the ships in the harbor were manned, flags run to the masthead, and three rousing cheers given. Then the band struck up the well known melody, "Home Again," and among the assembled guests fow there were whose eyes were not guests fow there were whose eyes were not bedimmed with tears. It was an affecting scene, and many of the sturdy and bronzed men of war men were seen to brush tears way with coatsleaves, as if the music had indeed touched their hearts.

Ten minutes after the Thetis had anchored the Bear rounded the point, and came to anchor in the wake of the Thetis. Again the yards were manned and again the gallant seamen gave three rousing cheers, which were repeated when the Alert steamed slowly around and dropped anchor abreast of the Bear. Secretary Chandler was standing on the quarter deck of the Tennessee to receive the commanding officers of the relief squad-ron, and within half an hour after coming to anchor these officers were on the deck of the flagship. It was remarked at this time by many that not a single gun had been fired in honor of the arrival of the relief squadron and Lient, Greely of the relief squadron and Lient, Greely, and the quietness of the demonstration was much commented upon. To avoid publicity as much as possible Secretary Chandler arranged to receive the commanders of the relief ships in the after cabin. Acting Admiral Luce escorted them to the presence of the secretary of the navy. As Commander Schley stepped into the cabin he was spreeted by Secretary Chandler who abin he was greeted by Secretary Chandler, who clasped his hand with fervor and passing one arm over his shoulder, said in a voice almost smothered with emotion, "God bless you, sir: I am glad to welcom nome." Commander Coffin, of the Alert, was next introduced, and in answer to o query of Secretary Chandler, said "I was never in better health in my life. It seems to have agreed with us." Lieut It seems to have agreed with us." Lieut Emory, of the Bear, was next ushered e secretary's presence, and received a cordial welcome from the repre sentatives of the pavy department.

After the brief and informal conversation letween Commander Schley and Secretary Chandler, the former looked anxiously around the cabin and gradually his countenance became overcast with gloom. Surgeon General Gunnell, no-ticing the look of disappointment which had overspread the commander's countenance, stepped forward, saying: "Your wife is in yonder stateroom, captain." With a bound Commander Schley reached the presence of his wife and daughter. After half an hour spent in conversation and general handshaking, the command of the relief ships returned t

Many were the appeals made by all classes of people to Secretary Chandler to causes of people to Secretary Canadier to permit them to go on board the Thetis to catch a glimpse of the Arctic hero, Greely, but these requests were invaria-bly replaced. Mrs. Greely, wife of the explorer, had reached Portsmouth on an early train this afternoon and was at once conveyed to the flagship Tennessee by the United States steamer Aladdin, reaching there about 3 o'clock. After the commanding officers had gone back to their ships, Mrs. Greely was put on board of the secretary's barge and conveyed to the Thetic, where her husband was. As the lady passed down the companion way to the barge she walked with a firm tread and showed no signs of emotion other than biting her lips and lightly clutching her hands. leut. Greely had not been informed that rival, in conversion with Commander Schley, the hero said he did not expect to see her to-day as she probably had not been able to reach there so soon. Late in the afternoon the mother of Lieut. Greely came from Newburyport, and was taken at once on board the Tennessee. Shortly after she was put in the scoretary's barge and taken on board the Thetis. When she arrived there Mr. and Mrs. Greely and the latter's brother were seated in Commander Schley's cabin, alternately crying and laughing and embracing. An instant before the lieutenant's mother entered the cabin Commander Schley stepped to the door and said: "Lieutenant, your mother is here." Mrs. Greely then entered and threw her arms around her son's neck, saying only, "My son! My son!" Lieut. Greely spoke no word save "Mother!" but in his tone and expression there was a world of tenderness. Clasping his mother in his arms the lieutenant did nothing else but sob, while the mother cried like else but sob, while the mother cried like a child.

else but sob, while the mother cried like a child.

About 4 o'clock Secretary Chandler entered his barge and was rowed to the Thetis. Secretary Chandler went at once to Lieut. Greely and affectionately took the gallant explorer in his arms in the fervor of his greeting. "God bless you! God bless you! "said the secretary. "You have come back to us almost from the grave. I hope your future happiness may reward you for the terrible experience you have had." The lieutenant responded feelingly, thanking Mr. Chandler for his kind expressions. To the writer Lieut Greelysaid he desired to thank the newspapers; of the country for the kind manner in which he had been treated by them. He could say but little at present, concerning his expedition, but the public would soon be given the outire details through the official reports. After his brief talk with Lieut. Greely, Secretary Chandler was conducted to the deck, where the crew of the Thetis was drawn up in line. The secretary stepped up to the craw and asid: "We men, your commander up in line. The secretary stepped up to the crow and said: "My men, your commander tells me you have done your duty nobly, and that you have been a credit to the navy and to the country. I desire to tell you that both the navy and the country appreciate your service, and in behalf of the navy department I give you my sincere thanks." He was then taken to the Alert, and addressed the crew of that the navy, four stars and an anchor on a blue ground. They soon got undor way, and plowed down the river. At noon the preparations for the reception of the Arctic fleet were completed.

A numerous company of invited guests, including many distinguished persons and the families of, naval officers, were carried by naval steam launches to the flagship Tennessee, on the quarter deek of which the chief ceremonies were held. At about 2 o'clock the Alliance rounded Fort Point and came to anchor some distance ustern of the Tennessee. The Thetis followed fifteen minutes later, and addressed the crew of that vessel in about the same words as given above. He next went on board the Bear, where he and Lieut. Emory had an informal conversation. Mr. Chandler was then conveyed to the fallapoosa, which was crowded with invited guests. Just before dark Lieut. Greely, his wife, mather, and brothers-in-law were taken ashore in the acting admiral's barge and were driven to the residence of that officer, where they will remain until they go to Newbury-port. The other survivors remain on board the Thetis for the present. Gen. Hazen accompanied Secretary Chandler on his visits to the relief squadron and LONDON, Aug. 1 .- A match game of cricket was begun yesterday at the Kennington oval between the Australian team and the Players of England. The first inning closed last night, the score standing: Players, 107; Australians, 151. The Players in their second inning to-day were all out for 55 runs. The Australians thereupon attempted to play their second inning, when the spectators made a vio-lent demonstration against the players, broke the wickets and stumps, pulled up the ropes, and caused a general melee. The Players cameout, and were compolled to retire, surrounded by the police. Sev-eral arrests were made. Finally the mob allowed the game to proceed, cheering the Australians, who won by 9 wickets.

PORTSMOUTH, ENGLAND, Aug. 1.—The final match game of cricket played in England by the Philadelphia team was begun here to-day against the United Services club. The weather was splendid. The ground was in good condition. The Americans were the first to go to the bat, and their first innings last five hours. R. Newhall retired with a spain when 100 runs had been reached. The score of the Americans in their first innings was as follows: Scott, O. C. Newhall, 48; Thayer, 48; R. Looking After Doubtful Districts Wih Soul-Stirring Documents.

Hon. George A. Post, the secretary of the Democratic Congressional Campaign committee, said yesterday when his precincts were invaded by a reporter, that the work of the committee has been fully stated, the principal work being looking after doubtful congressional districts, and districts where they have hopes of making gains from the republicans. He did not give a list of districts. The mmittee is also engaged, with the help of a corps of volunteer assistants, in send-ing out campaign documents. The one now in largest demand being Senator Voorhees's speech, made in April, 1882, in the scuate, on the imprisonment of Irish Americans by Great Britain. The callers during yesterday were many. Among them being Scnator D. W. Voorhees, Ex-Senator Frank Hereford, of West Airginia; Gen. Quarles, Zenn.; Judge Holman, Ga.; Eppa Houton, Speaker Carisle, Representative Wilson, W. Va., and Representative McAdos, N. J. Deaths From Cholera Decreasing in Mar seilles and Toulon, But the Disease Appears Elsowhere-The Dynamiters Sentenced-England's Trouble in the East.

LONDON, Aug. 1 .- The Times has a dispatch from Foo Chow, dated July 31, which says: "China has refused to pay the indemnity demanded by France. The time granted to China by France to decide upon the matter has been prolonged be-yond the 1st of August. A secret edict has been issued, ordering the Chinese not to molest foreigners. French civilians and mandarins, however, assert the lives of foreigners are not safe. The English flagship is landing sailors to act in defense of the foreigners in Foo Chow. The China nerchant fleet has been sold to an American firm for 5,250,000 taels-nearly $7, 300,000. War, to all appearances, is imminent."

A dispatch from Foo Chow of this date states that a great panie provails there. Foreigners are arming for defense. Ladies are leaving the city, and the French con-sul is preparing to go aboard a gunboat. A dispatch of to-day from Foe Chew to Reuter's Telegram company asserts that the general impression in that city is that war between France and China is inevita-ble. THE RECORD BEATEN.

Jay-Eye-See Lowers the Record of Mand S at Providence. PROVIDENCE, R. L. Aug. 1.—Jay-Eye-

See, on Narragansett park track, to-day surpassed all provious performances, making the mile in 2:10, thus beating his own previous record of 2:10f, and that of Maud 8, 2:10j. The great crowd also witnessed the famous black gelding, H. B. Win-ship, and mate beat their team record of 2:191, and that of Frank and mate of 2:082. The postponemont of the of 2:19t, and that of Frank and mate of 2:08t. The postponement of the events from Wednesday last was a great disappointment to prominent turfmen in all parts of the country, and the heavy rain of Thursday night threatened the relinquishment of the exhibition. The genial sunshine and invigorating air of Friday, however, were welcomed with widespread enthusiasm and Track Master Griffin speedily brought the circuit into admirable condition, although the surface was not as firm and springy as he desired. When Jay-Eye-Sec came on the track When Jay-Eye-See came on the track and swung into the stretch the judges announced that he would make the at-tempt to break his record. Jim Murhuff amounced that he would make the attempt to break his record. Jim Murhuff behind his running horse was also on the stretch limbering out, as he was to go the mile with Jay-Eye-See to give the little flyer courage and to force him to a faster galt if necessary. After jogging up and down the stretch once or twice Jay-Eye-See turned at the distance stand and came down to the wire for the word. He was working magnificently, and as "go" was shouted by Mr. Windsor the little gelding sped away around the turn with the runner about eight lengths behind. Never did a horse work more evenly than did Jay-Eye-See as he sped around the turn, and it seemed as if he was a piece of machinery and not a thing with life, so perfect was his action.

Up the quarter he went in 33½, with the runner trailing four lengths behind, and as he sped into the straight Bithers out him loose. Faster and faster were his strides, and it was evident that "Ed" meant to send him. At the half the watches registered 1:05 and 2:10 gais, and if he could held his own for the last half he would accomplish an unprecedented feat.

Around the upper turn it seemed as if he

Around the upper turn it seemed as if he Around the upper turn it seemed as if he was flying, and fast as has been the gait on the backstretch it was forced up now to something terific. On and on he went without the suspicion of a break, passing the three-quarter post in 1:39. At this point the runner pulled up even with the trotter and now began the final struggle. Down he came without a skip, every stride telling in the momentous race against the fast-flying seconds. Bithers had not yet used his whip, and the gailant flyer speeds down to the stand and under the wire. There is mementary bustle and then suddenly the the stand and under the wire. There is mementary bustle and then suddenly the cry. "He has done it!" is raised by those among the spectators who have timed him. A loud burst of applause greets the announcement only to be followed by a much more cathusiastic demonstration as the beard axions around with the record "2:10" upon it. Nover on a race track has there been a scene of i, wilder excitement than followed this announcement. Hats, canes, handkerchiefs, and fans were waved, while men shouted them selves hoarso in cheering the "king of the American turf." When Bithers came back to the stand with Jay-Eye-See a magnificent floral horse shoe was presented him, while sround him gathered a group of admiring friends ready to offer their hearty congratulations. Mr. Case, the owner of Jay-Eye-See, was overjoyed, and received the shower of congratulations. tions with the plainest manifestations of

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 .- Dr. C. C. O'Donnell, of San Francisco, the anti-Chinese immigration agitator, has arrived in this city, and is staying at the Grand Union hotel. He has brought with him from San Francisco, his Chinese lepers, Wo Sin, aged 31, and Ai Chin, aged 27, the former a servant, and the latter a tailor whom he desires to exhibit to the people of the east as an illustration of what Chinese immigration does for California. Chinese immigration does for California. He was refused permission by the mayor and park commissioners to speak to-day in Union square, and says that he intends to be heard. He does not want to make money, he claims, but wishes to speak for the sake of humanity. The two lepers have not been brought into the city, but are said to be hidden somewhere in the suburbs. WASHINGTON AHEAD two Great Games Set for Decision To-Day-Results of the Racing at Saratoga, Chicago, Brighton Beach, and Goodwood-Other Sporting Matters of Interest.

An audience that made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers shouted itself hoarse over the fine playing and the brilliant victory of the Washingtons yesterday afternoon. The club presented the strongest nine of the season, and was rewarded by playing the leaders of the association to a standstill and winning, hands down, with no one out, in the tenth inning. Barr was in fine fettle, and not a run was earned off him, and the base hits of the Mets so scattered that they were of little use. The lion's share of the work fell to Pennelly, and the score tells how well it was done. George Wright in his best days never did more brilliant work at short, and when he put brilliant work at short, and when he put out the whole side in the tenth inning by a lightning double play off Esterbrook and a good stop off Orr's grounder, the spectators fairly went wild. Hawkes and Prince played fine bases, and the outfield showed up strong. Yewell's bad throws gave the kiest three of their four runs, but his lack up strong. Yeweil's bad throws gave the Mets three of their four runs, but his lack of practice since June, perforced by his severe injury at Cincinnati, furnished an excuso. Humphries's hands are in a bad condition, and be caught wonderfully well, considering. The new men appear to have added much batting strength to the nine, the four left-handers following Fennelly in a row, making a quintette that are likely to put up carned runs at any time. Esterbrook and Orr led the batting for the Mets. Troy played a great game at second, and Relpschlager's catching and throwing were worthy of high praise. Nelson made a difficult fly catch at left center in great style.

The visitors were the first to score in the third inning, Nelson and Brady making good hits and coming home on Yewell's wild throw of a well-stopped grounder. The home club secured one run in the same inning, Humphries leading off with a fine hit, but, with Yewell, was doubled up on the latter's hit to Keefe. Barr then hit a hot grounder through Nelson, and on Fennelly's hit to right for two bases he scored, the ball being slowly fielded by Troy. In the third, after retiring the Mets in order, the Washington's took Keefe's measure, and singles by Goldsby and Hawkes, and a double by Hawkes, sent in two carned runs.

Keefe led off with a rattling hit in the Keefe led off with a rattling hit in the fifth inning and went to second on a passed bail. Nelson hit to Yewell, who threw over Prince's head and on Brady's sacrifice hit, Keefe tallied, Esterbrook sacrifice hit, Keefe tallied, Esterbrook also scoring on Orr's safe hit. The Washingtons tied the score in the eighth inning. Fennelly carning his base and stealing second, the umpire not allowing the claim of out by Troy, at which the Mets made a vigorous kick, but to no purpose. The next two men were hit by the pitcher and given first, and on Goldsby's put out at first Fennelly came in, Murphy being caught between third and home and run out after an exciting struggle.

The ninth yielded no runs, fine catches by Troy and brilliant work by Fennelly and Homphries marking the field play. Brady came the relief with a hard and safe hit to center, but Fennelly's wonderful play cut off the whole side on Esterbrook's and Orr's hits to him. Barr then took fist on beauty the structure of the safe on the structure of the structure of the safe on Esterbrook's and Orr's hits to him. A little more patience would have given him a run, as Baker made a good two base hit afterward and scored himself on a wild pitch. The Keystones were blanked the first three innings, but in the fourth, after McCormick and Flynn had been put out, Easterday hit for two bags and was followed by McGuinness with a cracking three base hit to right with a cracking three base hit to right center. He scored on Dessiey's failure to handle Clement's base hit, the latter going to third on a passed ball and heme on a wild pitch. The Nationals tied the score in the sixth inning through runs scored by Moore and Baker on a force out two hits and a passed ball. The Keystones in the first half of the seventh went to the front again, scoring two runs on Clements's two base scoring two runs on Clements's two base hit, Fisher's single, a passed ball, and the throw in off of Keingel's long hit caught by Reader. But the Nationals quickly asserted their superiority, for in their half with his family for a couple of weeks, but will leave to-night for his home, at Covington, Ky.

Mr. John Philip Sousa, leader of the Marine band, has returned from Rock Enon Springs. Va., much improved in health. He will direct the concert at the white house grounds to-day.

Mr. William Jenkins, the prominent young tobacconist of Portsmouth, Va., who has been here for the past few days in attendance upon the Elizabeth crew in the couple of weeks, but on which he died at the third, the ball barely beating him there. He was again unlucky, as Moore followed with another good hit that would have taken him home had be paused at second. It was a very pretty display of good, clean hitting, and set the crowd wild with delight.
